

signal studio.

Nine students in Limerick are getting this letter. You're one of them.

You already run things — a society, a ball, a committee that would quietly fall apart without you. We build software for exactly that kind of work, and we'd like you to have it first.